

Telesia: pre-admission application presented for listing on the AIM (Alternative Investment Market)

Milan, 03 January 2017 - Class Editori communicates that Telesia spa, wholly owned by the Publishing House and Go TV leader, has presented a pre-admission application for listing on the AIM (Alternative Investment Market). Ambromobiliare is the listing advisor, while Envent, with offices in Rome and London, is the Nomad (Nominated Advisor and guarantor of regulatory compliance for the market and Borsa Italiana). The Issuer's law firm is Nctm, while Studio Pedersoli acts for the Nomad.

The listing of Telesia as the first AIM new entry in 2017 will guarantee achievement of the company's great potential. It also represents a test of the AIM admission process for small companies, which is designed to create a proper capital market for SMEs. In this context, the Publish House is preparing a series of initiatives in terms of communications and fundamental analysis, given the urgent need to develop new sources of finance for SMEs, as an alternative to the banks.
